Curious Accident to Henry C. Tinker That Has Fatal Results.

Henry C. Tinker, who was the first of the Liberty National and a director in several cort of a curious accident. He was in the operating chair of a dentist a few fays ago when he swallowed a tiny teel instrument. Burgical aid was salled at once to him at his home, No. 46 East Fifty-seventh street, and an operation was performed. The intrument was found and removed, but it had caused such severe internal lacerations that the bleeding from them could not be stopped. Weakness from shock as well as loss of blood caused complete exhaustion and

Mr. Tinker was born at Lyme, Conn., in 1849. He was educated in Germany, France and England, and was at one time a board member of the New York Stock Exchange. He retired from active business ten years so. Mr. Tinker was an eathus yachteman and was the owner of the booner Palestine. He was a directo of the Liberty National Bank, the Pidelity Phenix Fire Insurance Com-pany, the Celluloid Company and the Kentucky Coal Lands Company.

Miss Annie Tinker, his daughter, has been prominent in society and in the woman suffrage cause. She led one of the early suffragist parades up Fifth avenue mounted on her favorto horse. She is now in France, working with the Red Cross organi-sation to relieve the sufferings of the wounded among the allies.
